FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Date: 30th January 2014

NORTHERN TRUST OFFICIALLY UNVEIL 2ND PHASE OF INNOVATE OFFICES AT ACKHURST.

Northern Trust has formerly unveiled the second phase of their small office 'Innovate' brand at Ackhurst Business Park, Chorley.

A number of North West agents and local dignitaries were invited to view the newly refurbished offices. Tom Parkinson, Director at Northern Trust commented "Innovate @ Arundel House forms part of Ackhurst Business Park and is the second phase of our small office units, following on from the success of the initial phase. The small offices are finished to a very high standard and offer affordable space on flexible terms, providing the ideal solution for start-up and small businesses looking to relocate to the Chorley area."

Ackhurst Business Park provides a range of modern self-contained office accommodation from single suites of just 3 persons (250 sq ft) to 'own front door' pavilion style buildings up to 4,525 sq ft. Each building is finished to a high specification to meet the needs of the modern day occupier and provides a professional business environment and high quality corporate image.

Richard Wharton of joint letting agents Jones Lang LaSalle commented "We are starting to see an increased level of demand for out of town offices in the South Preston area. Northern Trust have responded to this upturn by investing in the Innovate scheme in addition to the ongoing programme of refurbishment of the larger offices which offer occupiers self-contained accommodation or larger single floor plates of the highest standard together with extensive on site car parking"
